Municipal Electric Plant Will Be Next Accomplishment of Council.

GOVERNOR HERE TO-MORROW

Bridge Over Southern Tracks Completed—Miller & Winston Start Work on Plant.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

The next move to be made by the city of Manchester will be the installation of a municipal electric-light plant. A committee has already been appointed, and, in fact, Mr. E. W. Trafford, the electrical engineer of Richmond, is now preparing plans and specifications for the proposed plant. It is expected that in the near future he will present these to the committee.

The proposed plant will be located on a site adjoining the present city water-works. The power will be secured in that way. Up to this spring the city of Manchester has been receiving lighting for the streets from the Virginia Passenger and Power Company at no cost, and the single item of lighting the streets is something to be considered.

It is proposed that the municipal plant shall furnish light for the city and also commercial light and power. Mr. John W. Moore, of the Board of Aldermen, is chairman of the Light Committee, and he stated yesterday that the committee hoped to have the plant in operation before the year had elapsed. It is thought at this time that a plant, such as is needed in Manchester, would cost about $25,000. This amount, of course, will be raised by the issuance of bonds. The profit from the commercial lights and power will pay the interest on these and give sufficient to be placed in a sinking fund to pay the bonds when they fall due.

Masons to Have Social.

Manchester Lodge, No. 14, A. F. and A. M., will meet to-morrow night in the Masonic Temple, at which time Governor Swanson and District Deputy Eggleston will be present.

The session will be strictly devoid of the general work, and will be of a social nature. Following the meeting the lodge will attend the bazaar, which will be in progress in the hall, for the benefit of Stockton Street Baptist Church. The members will take supper there in a body.

Arrests Last Night.

A. H. Simmons was arrested last night by Sergeant Wright on the charge of raising a disturbance. According to the neighbor who swore out the warrant for the man who lives at Fourteenth and Bainbridge Streets, he is alleged to have broken up the furniture in his home, and, in fact, driven his wife and children from the house. He was locked up in the police station, and will answer to the Mayor on Monday morning.

El Brown was arrested yesterday morning by Officer Moore. He is charged with "shooting craps."

James J. Gray was arrested yesterday morning on the charge of assaulting Robert Far.

Lorenzo Taylor, colored, charged with assaulting R. Satchfield, was arrested last night by Officer Moore. He will appear before the Mayor on Monday.

At Work on Plant.

The work on the plant of Messrs. Miller & Winston, which is to be located on Stockton Street, between Sixth and Seventh Streets, was commenced yesterday. The plant will be one of the largest in the city, and will employ as many hands as any other concern here.

This concern does a wood-working business and will be a great addition to the manufacturing interests of the city.

Bridge Completed.

The bridge over the Southern Railway tracks at the extension of Cowardin Avenue, adjoining Belle Isle, was completed yesterday, and this thoroughfare will be a great boon to School Board to Meet.

The school board of Chesterfield county will meet at the Courthouse on Tuesday week, at which time plans will be discussed concerning the exhibit to be made at the Jamestown Exposition by the schools of the county. It has been suggested that a picture of the old brick school building at Middlethian be a part of the exhibit. This is one of the oldest school buildings in the State. It has been used continuously for one hundred and nine years. Some of the oldest citizens of the county attended school there. Specimens of work done by pupils throughout the county will also go toward making up the exhibit.

Rev. George C. Gates, Noted Evangelist, Coming to Petersburg.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PETERSBURG, Va., March 12.—A decision of interest and importance to local merchants, regarding the prohibition of the promiscuous peddling of goods, was rendered by Mayor Jones in the Mayor's Court this morning, when V. Russo, a well-known fruit merchant, was acquitted of the charge of violating the law by selling bananas from his wagon. The defendant, who had been summoned to court by a warrant sworn out by a large number of the Petersburg Fruit House, did not deny that bananas had been sold from his wagon, but contended that the law was not violated thereby, a claim that was successfully maintained by his counsel, W. H. McKenney, who asked for his client's acquittal under that provision of the State law prohibiting promiscuous peddling, which excludes those who sell "ice, fuel, meats, fowls, eggs, game, vegetables, fruits and other family supplies of a perishable nature grown or produced by them."

The Mayor stated that he had carefully read the law and agreed with its interpretation by a large number of it, and discharged Russo.

BRILLIANT HOUSE GREETED SEMBRICH

"La Boheme" that gave just a glimpse of the histrionic ability of the Polish artist, and nothing would satisfy the audience but the repetition of the latter part of the duet. Mr. Van Hoose, furnished for the seventh number an exquisite trio of songs, the best of which was "When the Roses Bloom," a marvelously sympathetic little air that touched the heart of every one.

The closing number by Sembrich was "Parla," a waltz by Ardit, that gave the singer opportunity to display her skill in coloratura singing, in which she is not equaled by a single artist living to-day. Upon its completion, the vast audience, applauding her to the echo, refused to stir from their seats, and when Mrs. Sembrich came out for the third time, she removed her gloves and took her seat at the piano. This was the signal for cheers from all over the house, and when they had quieted down, the great singer brought the concert to a close with a

PERUNA EDITORIAL NO. 3.

In any medical compound as much depends upon the manner in which it is compounded as upon the ingredients used.

First, there must be a due proportion of the ingredients. Each drug in the pharmacopeia has its special action. To combine any drug with other drugs that have slightly different action, the combination must be made with strict reference to the use for which the compound is intended. The drugs may be well selected as to their efficacy, but the compound ENTIRELY SPOILED BY THE PROPORTION in which they are combined.

It takes years and years of experience to discover this proportion. There is no law of chemistry, of pharmacy, by which the exact balance of proportion can be determined. EXPERIENCE IS THE ONLY GUIDE.

In compounding a catarrh remedy Dr. Hartman has had many years' experience. In the use of the various ingredients which compose the catarrh remedy, Peruna, he has learned, little by little, how to harmonize the action of each ingredient, how to combine them into a stable compound, how to arrange them into such nice proportions as to blend the taste, the operation and the chemical peculiarities of each several ingredient in order to produce a pharmaceutical product beyond the criticism of doctors, pharmacists or chemists.

WE REPEAT, THAT AS MUCH DEPENDS ON THE WAY IN WHICH THE DRUGS ARE COMBINED AS DEPENDS UPON THE DRUGS THEMSELVES.

The compound must present a stability which is not affected by changes of temperature, not affected by exposure to the air, not affected by age. It must be so combined that it will remain just the same whether used in the logging or mining camps of the northwest or the coffee plantations of the tropics.

A complete list of the ingredients of Peruna would not enable any druggist or physician to reproduce Peruna. It is the skill and sagacity by which these ingredients are brought together that give Peruna much of its peculiar claims as an efficacious catarrh remedy.

But should a list of the ingredients of Peruna be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that each one of them was of undoubted value in chronic catarrhal diseases, and had stood the test of many years' experience in the treatment of such diseases. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT THIS.

PERUNA. Peruna is composed of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrh. Every ingredient of Peruna has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh.

But however much virtue each ingredient of Peruna may possess, the value of the compound depends largely upon the manner and proportion in which they are combined.

PERUNA IS NO LONGER A MYSTERIOUS WORD, used to designate an unknown compound, but the trade mark title of a legitimate pharmaceutical compound which no physician or set of physicians will undertake to belittle.

Peruna brings to the home the COMBINED KNOWLEDGE OF SEVERAL SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE in the treatment of catarrhal diseases; brings to the home the scientific skill and knowledge of the modern pharmacist; and last but not least, brings to the home the vast and varied experience of Dr. Hartman himself, in the use of catarrh remedies, and in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

But admitting that Peruna is an excellent catarrh remedy, admitting that no doctor could find any reasonable objection to it as a medical compound, the question will be asked by some, is the patent medicine idea a feasible one? Is it practicable for a doctor to put up a remedy for chronic catarrh and place it upon the market at a price far below what the average doctor would be able to furnish it to the patient for? Is this a workable theory? Are not the people liable to make mistakes in the use of such a medicine?

We think not. We think there is no chance to make any mistake in taking Peruna for chronic catarrh.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

BUT THEY ALL FAILED TO BRING ANY RELIEF.

Dr. Hartman's idea is that a catarrh remedy can be made on a large scale, as he is making it; that it can be made honestly, of the purest drugs and of the strictest uniformity. His idea is that this remedy can be supplied directly to the people, and no more be charged for it than is necessary for the handling of it.

Complete directions for use accompany each bottle. In addition to this, free literature is furnished, giving Dr. Hartman's advice, which is worth much more to the patient than the verbal advice of the average physician.

The plan of furnishing on a large scale, directly to the people, a remedy for chronic catarrh, is an immense saving to the people. Already thousands of people have been cured in this way.

beautiful little song, to which she played the accompaniment. The gratitude and appreciation of the musical circles of Richmond, certainly due Mr. Ernest H. Conby, through whose untiring efforts Mrs. Sembrich was brought here, and it is sincerely hoped that this will be but the beginning of a new era in the musical history and education of Virginia's capital.

SINGING OF SEMBRICH.

Musician's Estimate of Work Done by Artist.

BY A RICHMOND MUSICIAN.

That Mrs. Sembrich is the greatest artist on the operatic and concert stage of the present day is conceded by the ablest musical critics of our time, and the truth of the security of this position in the musical world was but too firmly established at her concert last night in the Academy of Music, where she sang to one of the most enthusiastic audiences ever gathered in Richmond since the advent of Patti or Jenny Lind.

In the very beginning of her introductory number, as the absolute purity of her notes made itself felt upon the enraptured ear of her listeners, she could in truth have called the gathering all her own, and so it remained to the close of the last number.

The program opened with MacDowell's "Concert Etude," a piano number by Frank La Forge, who, with Billson from here to Washington. Her train will leave Elba Station, Broad Street, at 9 A. M. Monday, April 1st, and returning leave Washington Wednesday, April 3d.

The trip from Alexandria to Washington will be made via Mt. Vernon, Alexandria and Washington Railway.

Later, in Liszt's wonderful "Rhapsody XII," he gave an exhibition of tone-color that was exceptionally fine, bringing out by skilful pedal work and more skilful finger execution all the possibilities of contrast in this remarkable composition.

Mrs. Sembrich's first number was "An Poet's Lull" from "Traviata," and her appearance was greeted with the recognition due to an artist of her renown.

Quietly, as though fully realizing her complete mastery of Verdi's great aria, she took her place and as quietly and easily began to sing, and in the singing of this very first number conveyed to those who have made some study of the art of singing the reason for her great success.

From the highest extreme of her upper register to the lowest so-called "chest tones" there is absolutely no "break," but a smooth carrying of the voice throughout, with the same "placement" of tone, like the natural voice of a child richly endowed from on high, but worked in the same groove which nature intended, into mature knowledge of handling.

Her technical knowledge of tone-placing and enunciation, no fault could possibly be found; not a single misplaced tone, nor the slightest shade away from the key during the whole evening.
